

The Simpcw First Nation cenotaph outside the Simpcw spiritual centre Remember today, 2021.

Simpcw First Nation's Remembrance Day ceremonies held at the cenotaph located outside the Simpcw Spiritual Centre was open to the public. COVID-19 protocols were in place including requiring a vaccine passport and the wearing of masks.

Although the day was cloudy, the rain held off as the gathering paid tribute and remembered loved ones and all those who served.

Angie Rainer and Amanda Celesta are part of the drumming group

Simpcw First Nation Chief Shelley Loring stands with William Pete, as he gives a prayer

Eddie Celesta places a wreath of remembrance on the cenotaph